Party For Anatolia

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Powell of Green Pastures were hostesses at their home Thursday evening, February 27, to a group of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Compton, formerly of this town but now located at Anatolia College in Salonia, Greece. Members of the faculties of the Northfield Schools and local residents joined in an evening of bridge with refreshments and with a showing of the U. S. Treasury film, "America the Beautiful." As a result forty dollars was sent to Mrs. Ernest Riggs, wife of the president of the college, who is in the country to raise funds for a new building campaign.

Still Wants Clothing

Miss Margaret E. Jones of the Friends Service Committee of Philadelphia was a speaker at the Pilgrim Fellowship meeting at the Congregational Church Sunday evening, March 2, and delivered a most interesting talk on the needs of the people in Europe, especially in Austria where she had served and from where she had recently returned. She said that although tons of clothing had been sent and distributed, much more was needed. With the assistance of friends, Mrs. E. M. Powell sent two boxes of clothing to the Friends Service Committee and invites local citizens to contribute more leaving them at Green Pastures for forwarding.

Dig Up Human Bones

Up on Burt Hill about a mile beyond the Massachusetts line and within the town area of Winchester, there was unearthed recently by Thomas J. Solasz, on his farm the bones of a human being which evidently had been buried for many years. At first considerable excitement prevailed and it was thought the remains were those of an Indian. The authorities were notified and an investigation by police and medical officials followed. Dr. Walter Lacey, medical referee of Keene, said the skeleton was very old. However, it was ascertained that a cemetery once was located near the site but that the bodies had been removed elsewhere and the present finding was one of the burials overlooked. The bones were probably those of a child but Sheriff Arthur Jemison sent them to Hanover for study. The skeleton was quite complete and in a good state of preservation. The ground where it was found is of gravel and sand and Solasz was trucking sand to spread over the roadways about his home.

Boys' Cooking Class

The 20 boys of the self-supporting Chef's Club of the high school have been divided into two groups of 10 as the home economics room could not accommodate so many cooks at one time. The four senior boys made pies for the Fortnightly Club food sale. The proceeds of which were for the Senior Class Washington trip.

Teachers Get Sick

The Northfield School Committee, at its meeting February 21, voted unanimously to grant an accumulation of sick leave to teachers not to exceed 25 days in addition to the five days allowance for each current school year. This sick leave credit will be accepted on the presentation of a Doctor's certificate stating that the absence was essential to the health of the teacher. The sick leave can be computed for service in Northfield from September 1, 1941.

Only two teachers of the present staff are eligible for the full 25 days credit. One is eligible for 24 days and one is eligible for 20 days; all the others have less than 10 days accumulation at the present time.

This action by the School Committee was in response to a petition from the Teachers' Club requesting a study of the sick leave regulations.
